GL LOCK

GL LOCK

The GL Lock is a battery-powered RFID electronic locker lock for ISO 14443 (MIFARE) and ISO 15693 data carriers, available with or without a PIN code keypad.

The innovative lock is the ideal solution for implementing a cost-effective, secure and intuitively operated electronic locker locking system for the secure storage of personal belongings. The locks are suitable for almost any locker material and require no cabling. They can therefore also be easily retrofitted in existing locker systems - existing lock holes from mechanical locks can be easily reused.

Operation is via RFID (NFC) and/or PIN code, ensuring a wide range of applications and security levels. The status of the locker (unlocked/locked) is immediately visible based on the position of the individually customizable lock button.

Easy configuration is possible via USB or wireless interface, programming card, NFC or app. Thanks to low-power technology, a battery life of up to 10 years is possible. Most importantly, the GL locker system can be easily integrated into an RFID access and cashless payment system.
